

CULTURED

SUMMER 2014

DESIGN | ART | ARCHITECTURE

"I have the luxury of thinking in a macro way."
—Rodman Primack

$12.00US

4 2 >

0 74470 29178 7

What is going to be the cultural highlight of your summer?"

New York-based photographer FRANÇOIS DISCHINGER shoots architecture, fashion and travel for publications including Wallpaper, Harper's Bazaar and Town & Country UK. For Dischinger's first issue of Cultured, he shot Design Miami's new director, Rodman Primack for the cover and Amy Cappellazzo in her New York City townhouse.

"My cultural highlight this summer will be visiting the caves of Lascaux and getting a behind the scenes tour."

Chilean-born, New York-based artist and designer SEBASTIAN ERRAZURIZ has been featured in numerous museum exhibitions, including the Helsinki Museum of Contemporary Art, Museum of Arts and Design in New York, Vitra Design Museum in Weil am Rhein, Germany and The Mint Museum in Charlotte, North Carolina. This fall, Errazuriz will have his first solo museum show at the Carnegie Museum of Art on September 6th, followed by dual solo exhibitions at Cristina Grajales Gallery and Salon 94 on September 12th. His Cultured Commission, ART VIP walkie talkie, is available exclusively on Artsy.net.

"I'm looking forward to the exhibition 'Under the Same Sun: Art from Latin America Today,' at the Guggenheim, which includes works exploring social inequality, political activism and other issues I have a deep personal interest and history with."

ALEXANDRA MARSHALL is a contributing editor at Travel + Leisure and writes for W, Harper's Bazaar and The Wall Street Journal, among others. Since 2006, she has been based in Paris, where she does whatever she can not to sound too much like a darned yanqui.

"Summer is all about art in the south of France: Festival International D'Art Toulouse in May (Archie Shepp is playing the opening party) and then Les Rencontres d'Arles photo festival in July. I always stop in at the World Press Photo Show in June in Paris, which awards prizes for the best photojournalism. That one is consistently mind-blowing."

TRACY ZWICK is a New York-based writer, art historian and lawyer. She regularly contributes to Art in America online with interviews and news stories about art, culture and the market. She recently served as Art & Law scholar-in-residence at the New York non-profit Volunteer Lawyers for the Arts.

"I love Martos Gallery's summer group show in East Marion, New York. Jose Martos and his wife, artist Servane Mary, open their fabulously quirky home and lush property to artists and visitors, and curator Bob Nickas produces terrific juxtapositions. The vibe is relaxed and cool, plus it's near the beach."

ALEX GILBERT

Design Specialist

Artsy launched in October 2012 as the art-world equivalent of Pandora or Netflix. The website offers collectors a resource for new discoveries, but instead of enlisting the use of carefully-calibrated algorithms to search out new work that would appeal to your tastes, it employs specialists—real human beings. At the helm of the design branch is Alex Gilbert, a design world veteran versed in both its history and practice. After studying both architectural design and architectural history, Gilbert worked at the Cooper-Hewitt National Design Museum and the design department of Phillips. At Artsy, she works with galleries, museums and design fairs to bring their programs online and make them accessible to a global audience.

"On my to-do list this summer is a visit to La Maison Champs Elysees, the Paris hotel designed by Martin Margiela."

Examples of Enzo Mari's optical experiments from the 1960s

"Enzo Mari is one of the great legends of design I have yet to meet. He's a man with a truly fascinating mind and incredible vision. I love his book 'Autoprogettazione,' which shows you how to build furniture yourself. It's the most sophisticated DIY ever."

"I love visiting artist studios. Two of the most recent visits that impressed me were Snarkitecture and Sebastian Errazuriz (pictured above)."

"I think Jonathan Nesci is a young designer to watch."

Nesci's Galvanized chair

"I love the Chelsea apartment I share with my boyfriend Patrick Parrish. Any space we've chosen the art and design for, is where I want to be."

CULTURED X ERRAZURIZ

Sebastian Errazuriz presents a playful take on VIP access with his limited-edition walkie talkies for the latest Cultured Commission.

The ART VIP walkie talkie, an edition of 8, is available exclusively on Artsy.net.

"The ART VIP walkie talkie is a sculpture that can be displayed as a luxury trophy, but also offers each buyer exclusive access to an art world VIP..You may also get a prank call from me via the artist proof at 4 in the morning."

—Sebastian Errazuriz