

Join Lomography and become part of the world's largest analogue photography community!

Not now thanks

Join now

lomography

What are you looking for?

Shop About Photos Movies Magazine Homes More

News Shop News Analogue Lifestyle Locations Events Reviews Competitions Tipster Lomo Amigos Library Nearby

Have an account? Login | New to Lomography? Register | Lab | Current Site: Lomography International

Magazine > Analogue Lifestyle

Space Bowls by Sebastian Errazuriz

June 15, 2012 1 comment 5 likes

Next time someone tells you they love you to the moon and back, don't be so flattered. These photographic food bowls by Chilean artist Sebastian Errazuriz were made to look like the Earth, Sun and Moon, making planets closer and smaller than you think.

1/4 | previous photo | next photo | show all photos

Read this article in another language

This is the original article written in: English. It is also available in: Italiano, Spanish, Türkçe & Nederlands.

Are you new to Lomography?

What the hell is Lomography?

Why should I join the community?

Subscribe to our newsletter

This week's popular entries

A Glimpse of My Fisheye World on Canvas I have a good idea on how to give colour to my boring room. It is by making artworks. I am onto my second piece when I thought of transforming my Lomographic photo into another form of art, a painting. I wanted to incorporate my love for lomography into other things as well.

Web2PDF

converted by Web2PDFConvert.com

Photos via junk-culture

New York-based Chilean artist and designer Sebastian Errazuriz makes sculptures, public art works, consumer objects, furniture and even apparel that revolve around the dichotomies of life and death, inviting viewers to review their lives and question their daily routines.

1/3 | previous photo | next photo | show all photos

Photos via kikkerland

Yearly, Errazuriz creates products to help fund his next series of public artworks. "No pretensions, just a small design exercise done with much love," he adds. Such is evident in Space Bowls, small scale food plates with photographic planetary prints of the Sun, Moon and Earth. Made in partnership with Kikkerland, these designs for the dining table are a cool backdrop for sci-fi inspired lomographs.

Why don't you take your Fisheye Baby 110 Camera to outer space? The Fisheye Baby 110 Metal offers a world of shooting possibilities with its flash connector, wide depth of field, Bulb and Multiple Exposure settings! Don't forget to pack some Orca B&W 100 Film too.

The Fisheye Baby 110 Cameras are fully working miniature versions of the Fisheye No. 2 designed especially to fit 110 film. It captures the world in a full circle on a rectangular picture and enables you to capture perfect Fisheye pictures. The Fisheye Baby 110 comes with a bulb mode and is able to capture multiple exposures too. Load it with Lomography Orca B&W 100 and dive into the long forgotten world of 110 photography!

written by denisesanjose

Creative Corner: Instax Albums Inspired by my heightening stacks of instant photos, I decided I needed more places to put them than just in a box somewhere in my closet. So gather up some of your favorite instax photos and read on for how to make your very own photo album!

LomoGuru of the Week: Suizidekid If there comes a time when film isn't that easy to find anymore, that's probably his cue to finally consume some of the film rolls that he has stocked! But, he thinks that there's no point on being delusional, rather, now is the time to shoot more on film! He's Suizidekid, our LomoGuru of the week!

More of this weeks popular entries

- My New Love: Canon EOS 3000N and its Perfect Bokeh Any Time, Any Place – Part Six
- Follow The 10 Golden Rules with The Fisheye Baby 110
- LomoCelebs: Brad Pitt's Black & White Portraits of Angelina Jolie
- Picture-Perfection with Lomo LC-Wide
- Russia Day 2012 - Show Us Some Love – Winner Announcement
- Introducing The Fisheye Baby 110 - Lomography's First 110 Format Cameras!
- LC-Wide: A Review After One Year and 30 Rolls of Film
- The Couch of Goonies
- Rapa Nui: How to Discover the Magical World of the Moais